

LUNA DE AMOR

by Mark Keathley

Oct 2017

The moon provides a romantic backdrop for even the smallest, most unassuming of creatures. With the crashing of the waves in their ears and the residual warmth of the sand on their claws, these two crabs are participating in a ritual as old as time. The male, ever the gentleman, is enticing the female with a sensual dance designed to attract his lady from the other side of the dunes. If she deems him worthy, she will let him wrap her in a sweet embrace as they enjoy the “Luna de Amor.”
