

LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE

by Mark Keathley

In our travels, Bonnie and I get to meet some great folks and visit some amazing places. So amazing are some of the destinations, it seems we are always thinking, should we move here? We go to a beach town like Cape May, NJ or Myrtle Beach, SC and the beauty and serenity of the sand and water; the sunrises, the festivities, altogether call to us with a “you could be happy here.” Or we go to the higher altitudes of the mountains where the summers are pleasant, and you get just the right amount of snow in the winter, and the subtle beckoning is heard again. However, we have learned that there is no perfect place, no spot on earth where it all comes together where there is low humidity, little danger, no critters to bite you, or catastrophes possible - there is only the PERFECT ONE to be near and find our joy and fulfillment. We have heard a different quiet speaking - “Grow where you are planted” - “LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE” - “for I AM with you where ever you are.”
