

THE MASKED FISHERMAN

by Abraham Hunter

EXCLUSIVE RELEASE

Here is another painting I managed to do between baby feedings with little sleep haha. This little bandit is fishing as hard as he can for lunch, but the little fish just keep getting away. One of the cutest things I've seen is watching raccoons try to get food. They use their little hands and are so smart as they figure out how to make that snack happen for them. I bet our little "Masked Fisherman" is going to keep going until he finally has a fish fry!
